COVID-19

It can be hard to predict or avoid some health problems. But there are many small things you can do to help you stay safe and healthy. Remember that you are protecting not only yourself but also those you care about. If you get hurt or sick, you may not be able to work or take care of your loved ones.

WHAT IS COVID-19

Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) is a respiratory illness that can spread from person to person. The virus that causes COVID19 is a novel coronavirus that was first identified during an investigation into an outbreak in Wuhan, China and has now spread worldwide

How does COVID-19 spread?

The virus is thought to spread mainly from person-to-person:

- Between people who are in close contact with one another (within about 6 feet).
- Through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs, sneezes or speaks.

These droplets can land in the mouths or noses of people who are nearby or possibly be inhaled into the lungs. It may be possible that a person can get COVID-19 by touching a surface or object that has the virus on it and then touching their own mouth, nose, or possibly their eyes, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.

Most individuals with mild to moderate symptoms can be managed with self-isolation. However, residents with severe symptoms may need to be hospitalized for their illness. Severe symptoms of COVID-19 include severe difficulty breathing (inability to speak several words at a time or to walk a few steps), persistent chest pain, confusion or inability to arouse, bluish lips or face, profound weakness, inability to eat or drink for one or more days, or inability to care for self.

Who is at higher risk*?

Based on what the CDC indicates, those at high-risk for severe illness from COVID-19 are:

People 65 years and older and people who live in a nursing home or long-term care facility

People of all ages with underlying medical conditions, particularly if not well controlled, including:

- People with chronic lung disease or moderate to severe asthma
 - People who have serious heart conditions
 - People who are immunocompromised
- Many conditions can cause a person to be immunocompromised, including cancer treatment, smoking, bone marrow or organ transplantation, immune deficiencies, poorly controlled HIV or AIDS, and prolonged use of corticosteroids and other immune weakening medications)
 - People with severe obesity (body mass index [BMI] of 40 or higher)
 - People with diabetes
 - People with chronic kidney disease undergoing dialysis
 - People with liver disease

Additionally, people with certain types of cancer – especially those with blood or lung malignancies, or tumors that have spread throughout the body.

*Pregnant women can get very sick if infected by some viruses. People with regular close contact with someone who has or could have COVID-19 are also at higher risk of getting COVID-19, such as people who live in the same home, caretakers who work in the home or current sexual partners.

HOW TO PREVENT COVID-19

There is currently no vaccine to prevent coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). The best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to this virus. However, as a reminder, CDC always recommends everyday preventive actions to help prevent the spread of respiratory diseases, including:

- Wear masks or cloth face-covering when in public. The Governor's emergency executive order requires all Connecticut residents to wear masks or cloth face-coverings in public places when social distancing is not possible and stores. Also, it is a requirement to wear them when using services of any taxi, car, livery, ride-sharing or similar service or means of mass public transit, or while within any semi-enclosed transit stop or waiting areas.
- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Keep at least six feet away from other people whenever possible.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.
- Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash.
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after using the bathroom; before eating; and after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing.
 - If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty.
- Young people should also practice social distancing and avoid contact with vulnerable populations
- Sick individuals should not leave their home except to fill critical needs or to receive medical care, and only after a telehealth visit to determine if leaving home is in the best interest of their health.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU HAVE SYMPTONS

Unless it is a medical emergency, do not call 911 or go the hospital. Contact your primary healthcare provider by phone. Additionally, call the New Haven Health Department Hotline (203) 946-4949. You may also contact the Yale New Haven Health COVID-19 Hotline 1-833-275-9644. Individuals must contact their healthcare professional if they develop symptoms and have been in close contact with a person known to have COVID-19 or have recently traveled from an area with widespread or ongoing community spread of COVID-19. See the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) website for information on areas affected by Coronavirus. The Health Department can also assist with directing you to care. Also, Visit the New Haven COVID-19 website for up to date information <https://covid19.newhavenct.gov/>

Emergency warning signs include trouble breathing, persistent pain or pressure in the chest, new confusion, or inability to arouse, bluish lips or face. This list is not all-inclusive. Please consult your medical provider for any symptoms that are severe or concerning.

If you develop emergency warning signs for COVID-19, get medical attention immediately.
